New Moon in Sagittarius

Set intentions, plant seeds, make a list that calls in the energy you'd like to invite into your life under this New Moon. Make a vision board if that's your style!

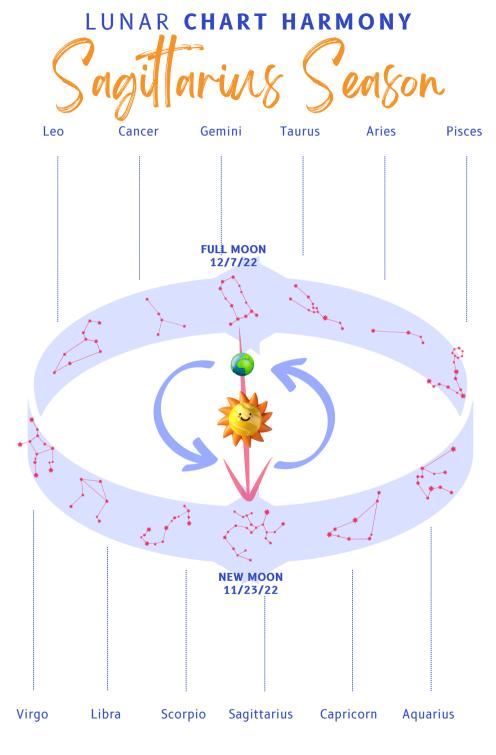

Choose goals that align with the healthiest parts of the sign the New Moon is happening in. Engage in ritual that connects to the Element of the sign too!

For Sagittarius, this means expansion, optimism, humor, international travel, adventure, academic exploration, spiritual growth, astrology, philosophy, religion, experiential learning.

Because Sagittarius is our Mutable Fire sign, consider inviting candles (safely) into your intention-setting. Dance around. And so it is!

Full Moon in Gemini

During this Full Moon, it's time to release attachment to what no longer serves us. It's time for some closure related to the 6-months-ago New Moon in this same sign.

Because each sign has a shadow side, when we consider the sign the Full Moon is happening in, focus [gently] on the less-healthy qualities of that sign.

For Gemini, this means fickleness, duplicity, gossiping, scatteredness, overthinking, debating, and anything that didn't manifest from those 6-months-ago Gemini New Moon intentions.

Because Gemini is our Mutable Air sign, consider burning incense (safely) and working outside in the open as you say thank you and so long to loose ends.
